SEX, SAMAJH AUR SAHMATI

Respect, boundaries aur intimacy par
ek seedhi, bina judgement ki guide.

Is kitab mein

01 / Consent ko samjho
02 / Baat kaise shuru karein
03 / Trust, privacy aur expectations
04 / Apni readiness checklist

Adults ke liye general relationship education. Yeh medical treatment ya legal advice ki guide nahi hai.

Consent pehle aata hai

Sahmati ka matlab hai apni marzi se, bina pressure ke haan.

Haan clear aur voluntary ho
Khamoshi, hesitation ya resistance na karna consent nahi hai. Agar jawab unclear ho, rukkar poochho. Kisi ko manana, guilt dena ya baar-baar pressure banana respect nahi hai.

Har baar, har step par
Pehle ki haan aaj ki permission nahi hai. Relationship ya marriage bhi automatic consent nahi banata. Ek cheez ke liye haan ka matlab har cheez ke liye haan nahi.

Rukna hamesha allowed hai
Koi bhi apna mind badal sakta hai. "Abhi nahi" ya "stop" par turant rukna chahiye. Soya hua, behosh ya samajhkar faisla na kar pa raha vyakti consent nahi de sakta.

Ek simple check-in
"Kya tum comfortable ho? Hum ruk sakte hain." Iska jawab bina narazgi ya bargaining ke accept karo.

Baat karna seekho

Achhi intimacy ka ek zaroori hissa honest communication hai.

Sahi waqt chuno
Boundaries par baat tab karo jab dono relaxed hon aur privacy ho. Intimate moment ke beech surprise expectations rakhne se pehle normal conversation mein comfort samjho.

Apni baat seedhi rakho
"Mujhe dheere aage badhna hai." "Main iske liye ready nahi hoon." "Mere liye privacy important hai." Apni preference batane ke liye apology dena zaroori nahi.

Suno, assumptions mat banao
Partner ke jawab ko correct karne ki jagah samjho. Poochho: "Tumhare liye kya comfortable hai?" Different preferences ko competition ya personal insult mat banao.

No ka respectful jawab
"Theek hai, batane ke liye thanks." Phir topic ya activity badal do. Affection ka matlab sex ki expectation nahi; saath baithna aur baat karna bhi closeness hai.

Trust aur privacy

Respect bedroom ke bahar bhi dikhna chahiye.

Comparison se bachho
Porn aur social media ko real relationship ka standard mat banao. Screen par dikhaya gaya content communication, awkwardness aur personal boundaries ko aksar poori tarah nahi dikhata.

Private ka matlab private
Intimate photos, messages ya personal details kisi aur ko bina explicit permission share mat karo. Photo banane ki permission, use forward karne ki permission nahi hoti.

Performance ka pressure hatao
Kisi ki body, experience ya comfort ka mazaak mat banao. Sex ko achievement, proof of love ya partner ko khush rakhne ki duty ki tarah treat mat karo.

Baad mein bhi care
Poochho: "Tum kaisa feel kar rahe ho?" Kisi ko conversation chahiye, kisi ko space. Sunna aur unki preference respect karna trust ko support karta hai.

Kya main ready hoon?

Aage badhne se pehle apne aap se yeh sawaal poochho.

Apni marzi
Kya main khud yeh chahta/chahti hoon, ya partner, friends aur comparison ke pressure mein hoon? Kya main bina darr ke mana kar sakta/sakti hoon?

Dono ki clarity
Kya humne boundaries, privacy aur expectations par baat ki hai? Kya hum dono kisi bhi waqt rukne ko bina shikayat accept karenge?

Health ki baat bhi zaroori
Pregnancy prevention, STI protection ya sexual-health concerns ke sawaalon ko ignore mat karo. Apni situation ke liye qualified healthcare professional se reliable guidance lo.

Ek chhota exercise
Teen lines likho: "Meri boundary hai..." "Mujhe comfortable lagta hai jab..." "Agar main unsure hoon, main kahunga/kahungi..." Inhe partner se calmly share kar sakte ho.

Yaad rakho
Ready na hona bhi valid hai. Respectful intimacy mein choice, comfort aur dignity ke liye jagah hoti hai.
